

They cheered loudly as the blindingly bright light passed the candlelit tavern. Their chubby faces rose and they lifted their beers and shouted, "Wuhu! Wuhu! Wuhu! Wuhu!" "Wu... huh?" The light suddenly went out. The once crowded, loud bar suddenly became a sea of groans and deep confusion. Then they heard a ship, a loud ship, a horn of a ship that was about to hit the rocks! As fast as a fire being lit, they reached their lanterns and went out to help!